

White City Development

New railway station, bridge and associated railway works

The White City Development is a £1.6bn new retail and leisure development located in west London. The development includes new transportation improvements including a bridge replacement, new spur line and new elevated station (Wood Lane).

Senior engineering staff from OTB were seconded to coordinate all work associated with the operating railway, package management and temporary works coordination.

Client: Metronet Rail BCV Ltd
Period: 2006